RESPONSE TO INSTRUCTION/INTERVENTION (RtI²) TEACHER

DEFINITION
Under direction, facilitates and coordinates the implementation of the Response to Instruction/Intervention RtI². The RtI² Teacher will implement strategies and instructional routines through a lesson design model that will ensure all children can achieve. The primary role of the RtI² Teacher will include, but will not be limited to the implementation of tiered interventions as well as intervention programs to assist children who do not master grade level skills from first, high-quality classroom instruction. This position is directly responsible to the Principal.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS
This position classification requires expertise in the field of reading/language arts, mathematics, and English language development. Direct experience implementing elements in the Response to Instruction/Intervention (RtI²) model is required to perform the duties and tasks required. Classroom teaching in these areas is required to perform RtI² analyses using widely prescribed lesson design models and evidenced-and-research-based practices. The RtI² teacher works with the Classroom Teachers, Grade Level Representatives, Elementary Intervention Teachers, Resource Teachers, Instructional Coaches, the Principal and the Student Study Team to create learning environments where they will facilitate teacher study groups and analyze student work and develop lesson designs for the enhancement of teaching strategies and instructional routines.

This position classification performs light work that involves sitting a portion of the time, but requires walking and standing for extended periods and may occasionally require moving or lifting of up to fifty (50) pounds. This position requires accurate perceiving of sound, near and far vision, depth perception, the ability to provide oral information and direction, and the handling and transporting of instructional and assessment materials and objects.

Reasonable accommodation may be made to enable a person with a disability to perform the essential functions of the job.
