

The Squeeze: Fresh Ideas

AUGUST 24, 2020

Coronacation ! Vaca-tion to Edu-cation

Whether we are with students in the classroom or online, we're still here to make a difference.

Every students' continuation of learning and success is at the heart of OrangeUSD's instructional programs. This year the district has leveraged funding to support our new learning environment to provide opportunities for teachers and students. Collaboration between curriculum and educational technology teams created this newsletter to provide you with resources and tools to support all learners in your instructional program. "Squeeze" some new ideas from this resource as we continue to support you in the new year.

Remote Resources

Science

Did you know that Amplify (Elementary) Science has new @Home Videos? You can show students during your live instruction to promote discourse or use them to create your own for a more personal approach.

Inquiry Mindset

by Trevor Mackenzie

- Inquiry Teachers are playful, passionate & curious
- Inquiry Teachers teach slowly
- Inquiry Teachers know their curriculum
- Inquiry Teachers know their students
- Inquiry Teachers reflect & revise as they go
- Inquiry Teachers go outside & come back in

High School

Be on the look out for Virtual Labs; supplemental resources to bridge the gap between curriculum and NGSS.

Spotlight on SEPs

Do you know a teacher who incorporates SEPs into student discourse and want to give them a shout out?
